

43

A family holiday is cancelled. Dad says there are transport problems. Back 2.

44

Dad is promoted again.

45

46

Your parents buy a work of art to display in your hallway.

47

You are given tickets to hear a famous band.

48

You move into a new house in a smart area of town.

49

Congratulations. You have reached the top. Open the envelope.

42

You attend a sale, in the town hall, with your Mum and buy a new music player.

41

40

Several people leave your Dad's company and he is promoted. You get more pocket money. Forward 4.

39

Your Dad is commended for saving company money by finding workers to work long hours.

38

You hear your parents arguing about your Mum's visit to a dressmaker.

37

Your friend gives you a fine gold chain for your birthday.

36

Mum finds a political pamphlet in your room. You are grounded.

29

You attend a free summer camp.

30

31

You report the movements of a suspicious person to the police. Your parents are proud of you. Forward 4.

32

You are found reading a book which your teachers do not like.

33

Your Dad is furious when you say you do not want to join in a local youth activity.

34

You are scared when you hear the sound of breaking glass in the middle of the night.

35

There is no bread for breakfast this morning.

28

You arrive at school late due to a problem in the high street.

27

Your brother is offered a place at Munich University. He has a party to celebrate. Forward 3.

26

25

Dad buys a car. There is space to park it outside the night-club, which has closed.

24

The Doctor's surgery is closed and you cannot get treatment for your sore throat.

23

Mum won't answer questions about an article in the newspaper.

22

The neighbours gossip about your family when your cousin cancels her wedding.

15

Your brother is grumpy. He wasted money on expensive concert tickets but the artist has pulled out of the show.

16

17

You get extra homework for saying that science is boring.

18

You win a medal for swimming. All that practice, when the pool was quiet, has been worthwhile.

19

The Head-teacher tells your class that one of the girls from your project group has chosen to leave the class. Back 3.

20

21

A teacher leaves town without saying goodbye. Back 1.

14

You go to the cinema with your best friend and there is no need to queue.

13

You want to trace your family tree for your project but Granddad won't talk about it.

12

You argue with Mum about the volume of your favourite music. Back 2.

11

You feel lonely when your friend takes time from school to care for her disabled brother.

10

9

You waste a whole morning searching for a book to help your project. Members of the library staff are unhelpful.

8

You read about the "perfect family" in a magazine quiz. It could be describing your family.

1

Start

2

You find a stray cat-mum lets you keep it as a pet.

3

The afternoon is warm and sunny and you eat lunch in the park. There are lots of seats in your favourite spot.

4

5

Your teacher spends time coaching you and you gain high marks in a maths test.

6

7

Your sister has new part-time work.